

Guidelines for Health Leave of Absence

NYU expects its students to maintain continuous registration in an academic program with the exception of summer breaks. However, at times it is necessary or desirable for a student to take a leave from enrollment for a period of time. We recommend you meet with an advisor to discuss your circumstances, and decide on the most appropriate option. NYU is committed to handling reasonable requests for leaves in a responsible manner. Health related leaves are requested for many reasons, and will require further documentation both before the leave and when intending to return. In particular, health-related leaves require a letter from your physician or health care provider specifying the date of onset for the relevant condition, and endorsement of your need to take leave.

Students should refer to the official academic withdrawal policy described in their school bulletin, and complete the Term Withdrawal Form available on NYU Albert (for instructions, please refer to www.nyu.edu/registrar/withdrawal/). Below offers important information to be aware of as you arrange for your health leave of absence.

Financial Implications

- Refunds. There are no tuition refunds approved after the standard refund period has passed. For more details, refer to the published schedule www.nyu.edu/bursar/refunds/schedule.html (specifically the schedule for “complete withdrawal,” since all registered classes are withdrawn following a leave of absence). If there are extenuating and documented circumstances, please contact the Assistant Director of Students, Leah Guarino-Ramirez, to discuss your situation.
- Loan Repayments. A leave of absence does not certify a student as enrolled for the purpose of loan deferrals. As such, repayment of any student loans borrowed in previous semesters is not deferred during the leave. However, the grace period for most loan repayment plans is usually longer than a single semester leave. It is therefore strongly recommended that you contact your lending institution to confirm the grace period allowed for your loans before arranging for a leave.
- Academic Progress & Aid Eligibility. Remember, financial aid requires that you make regular academic progress toward graduation, and a leave of absence may disrupt the usual sequence of courses in your curriculum. The federal government requires that you make satisfactory academic progress (SAP) each year. SAP is defined as (a) completing registered courses with a passing grade, which means a minimum D for letter-graded courses or P for pass/fail courses; (b) earning a minimum 76% of the attempted credits toward the degree, including summer and any advanced standing credits awarded (or 67% for HEOP & CSTEP students); and (c) maintaining a cumulative grade point average of at least 2.0. For more information, contact the Office of Financial Aid at (212) 998-4444 or visit their website at www.nyu.edu/financial.aid.
- Federal Aid Recalculations. For students receiving federal aid who withdraw completely before attending 60 percent of the semester (approximately the ninth week for a semester course), NYU is required to calculate the amount of federal student aid funds that must be canceled or returned. As a consequence, those receiving federal aid who withdraw completely in this time period may encounter a loss of financial aid, and therefore have an outstanding balance resulting from the mandatory return of funds to the government. The amount of federal aid retained (or “earned”) is calculated using a federal formula; federal assistance is generally earned on a prorated basis according to the withdrawal date and time in attendance. Please note the withdrawal date is determined based on the date the withdrawal form is submitted in Albert, unless the University has other information that demonstrates the withdrawal (or last day of attendance) was an earlier date.
- Renewal Applications. Please note you must re-apply each year for financial aid, even while on leave, especially if you intend to return to NYU the following academic year. The priority deadline to apply for financial aid is March 1st of the year in which you plan to return (i.e. May 1st, 2015 to request funding for the academic year, Fall '15 & Spring '16). Even if you are not sure you will return, or you missed the March 1 deadline, you should still submit the FAFSA.
- Tuition Refund Insurance. Please note if a withdrawal is due to mental health, a hospital stay (at least 24 hours) within 30 days of the withdrawal date is required as documentation. If you have tuition refund insurance, make sure to follow up with your provider prior to the leave. For more information regarding the plan, visit www.nyu.edu/bursar/refunds/insurance.refund.html.
- Notice. You must communicate with Financial Aid about your plans for a leave, and ensure that department is aware of your leave status (Financial Aid Office, 25 West 4th Street, New York, NY 10003). Failure to resolve tuition payment prior to a leave does not relieve you of financial liability for any charges accrued during the weeks in attendance.

Housing Implications

- Moving Out. Housing will be notified of your health leave once processed, and access to the residence hall will be discontinued; so students should plan to vacate the room immediately after submitting the request for a leave, usually by the end of the week in which the leave was approved. Please note you cannot live in a residence hall while on leave.

- Communication & Charges. It will be imperative that you communicate with Housing about your health-related leave of absence, especially with mid-semester leaves, in order to be refunded for any remaining days on your housing contract. Housing charges may be incurred until the point of checkout with the residence hall staff for mid-semester leaves. You must also remain in contact while on leave if you plan to return to a residence hall. For more information regarding policies & procedures, visit www.nyu.edu/housing.
- Renewing Housing Eligibility. You will be eligible to receive housing upon your return to NYU IF you have maintained your renewable housing contract. This means that you must respond to housing when they send information to you via email while on leave (even if you are not planning to return that semester) to keep your license active. You may need to make the housing deposit in order to ensure a room assignment upon your return. During the usual time of renewal & room selection for all students, Housing will send the information and forms to you via email to renew your license. If your leave has been designated as health-related, you will be eligible to participate in the housing lottery, choose your roommate and submit your residence hall/room preference (a proxy should be designated to represent you in the housing lottery if unable to participate yourself). You must fill in the appropriate information to renew your license, even if you are planning to extend your leave.

Registration Implications

- Registration Hold. For the duration of your leave, a block will be placed on your registration in future semesters. In order to have the hold released, you must first present proper documentation from your health care provider.
- Return from Medical Leave. If returning from a health leave due to physical illness or injury, you will need a letter from your physician confirming your readiness to resume studies before you can be cleared to register for classes.
- Return from Psychological Leave. If returning from a health leave due to psychological reasons, your therapist or psychiatrist must provide written endorsement by completing a Certificate of Readiness form, obtained from Counseling and Wellness Services (CWS). In addition, you will need to be evaluated by a clinician in CWS in order to return to active status and have the hold cleared for registration. You must call them to make an appointment (212.998.4780) at the appropriate time, and be sure to explain you are returning from a health leave of absence.
- Notification. When you plan to return, you must contact Leah Ramirez, Assistant Director of Students for Liberal Studies (leah.ramirez@nyu.edu), to discuss your intentions and the clearance process for registration.

Academic Implications

- Transcript Notations. If you withdrew before the end of a semester, your transcript will indicate that you arranged a leave of absence, and you will receive a grade of W in all your classes. Since a leave of absence results in full withdrawal from classes for the semester, grades of incomplete (I) are not possible to arrange with individual courses.
- Off-Sequence Returns. If you are a Liberal Studies freshman who takes a leave after your first semester of study, and you wish to return for the fall semester in the following academic year, you will be unable to take the courses necessary to complete the freshman sequence of classes (ie, Social & Cultural Foundations II); but you must still register for Writing II upon return. If you are a freshman who takes leave during your first semester, you cannot return from leave until the following fall semester (ie. you must be on leave the whole academic year, and begin the sequence anew). You will not be able to complete the program until you have been in residence for four (4) semesters.
- Transfer Credits. Liberal Studies has a residency requirement that does not allow for transfer credit from classes taken at another college while on leave. Therefore, if you take classes from another college or university while you are on leave, those credits will not be accepted for transfer. If you want credit for those courses completed at another college while on leave, you MUST reapply to the university as a transfer student.
- First Year Away (FYA) Students. Students who started Liberal Studies at an international site, and took leave during their freshmen year, must return to that international site upon resuming their studies. If there are special circumstances that require you instead return to the New York campus, you must submit a petition and provide supporting documentation for consideration of this request. Aside from FYA students who went on leave during freshman year, all other students are expected to return to New York from a leave of absence. Please refer to the Global Programs Leave Guidelines for further instructions.

International Student Visa Implications

- Notification & Maintaining Status. You must notify the Office of Global Services (OGS) of your intended leave. United States immigration law places responsibility upon the individual student to know and follow all relevant immigration regulations. Failure to comply with these regulations may have severe consequences for your ability to study, seek employment, or remain in the US. For more information, inquire with OGS or visit www.nyu.edu/ogs.

Health Insurance & Service Implications

- Student Health Insurance. If approved for a leave of absence and already enrolled in the university-sponsored health insurance plan, you are insured through the end of the coverage period for which you already paid. If you would like to continue coverage, you can purchase a continuation coverage option for 90 days beyond the end of the period for which you had originally paid. Please note this extended coverage this requires application and direct payment to Consolidated Health Plans online at www.chpstudent.com/nyu (click the Continuation Option link). If you are approved for a leave of absence within the waiver period for the semester (ie, before September 30th for Fall, February 10th for Spring), your university insurance plan will automatically terminate. To avoid a gap in coverage, if interested in maintaining the NYU insurance plan, you and your school must notify the Student Health Center Insurance Department at health.insurance@nyu.edu or 212.443.1020.
- Health Services. Please note other services offered through the Student Health Center are only available to registered students, and therefore students on a leave of absence are ineligible during the semester(s) of leave.

While on leave of absence, please be aware your ID card will also be inactive. As such, many university privileges will be unavailable (such as access to university libraries and athletic facilities).

While you are on leave, you will have access to your NYU email account.
This is the only method by which NYU will communicate with you, so be sure to check that account regularly.
And remember to update your other contact information while on leave in Albert.

Returning from Health Leave of Absence

At least six (6) weeks before the beginning of the semester you have planned to return (ie, toward the conclusion of your leave), you must notify the Academic Advising Office in writing with your intention to return for the upcoming semester, specifically Leah Ramirez, Assistant Director of Students. In order to provide six weeks advance notice, you should contact her in November for a spring semester return, or July for a fall semester return. Failure to contact the program within the designated time period may result in the inability to return; students cannot be reinstated for a particular semester after the registration deadline for that semester has passed.

Upon request, you will authorize your health care provider to provide NYU with additional medical or psychological information relevant to assessing your fitness to return.

- Mental Health: Leaves due to a psychological condition require your health care provider complete a “Certificate of Readiness to Return to School from a Medical Leave of Absence,” and that you be assessed by Counseling and Wellness Services at NYU (at no charge). The counseling staff provides a recommendation to Academic Advising about your fitness to return/re-enroll. If currently with a clinician or therapist outside NYU, an appointment with a CWS counselor must still be scheduled to submit the letter recommending a leave. Appropriate treatment must be pursued during the time on leave. Certificates of Readiness can be requested from Counseling & Wellness Services, 212.998.4780. Note that if an assessment with CWS is required for your return, available times may be within a two-week period from the date of your call, so plan accordingly.
- Medical: Leaves due to a physical condition require that your physician or health care provider a letter affirming your readiness to return to school following a medical leave of absence, which will be reviewed by Medical Services at NYU. The medical staff provides a recommendation to Academic Advising about your fitness to return/re-enroll.

All materials from health care professionals will be reviewed, and inform the recommendation about your fitness to resume studies shared with the Associate Dean of Students & Assistant Director of Advising. The decision regarding re-enrollment will carefully consider the recommendations provided by Counseling & Wellness Services and/or Medical Services, and any other relevant university departments, taking into account information received from your health care provider.

Important Reminders

- Housing. You must also notify the Housing Department of your plan to return to on-campus housing. For eligible students on an approved health leave, housing is guaranteed upon re-enrollment if you have maintained your renewable housing license. Failure to contact the program within the designated time period may result in forfeiture of the guaranteed housing.
- Financial Aid. If you wish to receive financial aid, you must apply directly for aid by completing the FAFSA (or for international students, CSS Profile). The priority deadline to apply for financial assistance is May 1st each year. Remember you must apply for aid every year regardless of whether or not you are on leave. For more information, visit www.nyu.edu/admissions/financial-aid-and-scholarships/applications-and-forms.html (and click on Returning Student Deadlines).
- Academic & Disciplinary Status. Any academic status designated prior to the leave of absence (such as probation) remains in effect upon return to Liberal Studies. For any student dismissed from the program, dismissal status supersedes the leave status. The leave of absence policy likewise may not be used in lieu of disciplinary action to address any violations of university policies, regulations or conduct codes. A student granted a leave of absence while on academic or disciplinary probation would return to that same status.
- International Students. For international students, you will need to complete an Application for an Updated I-20 to Return After Leave of Absence. The application is available at www.nyu.edu/global/international-immigration-services/important-forms.html. Please note if you leave the US for more than five consecutive months, you may need to restart your F status with a new record in SEVIS, and standard documentation will be requested to update your I-20 before resuming studies (including documentation of financial support, an affidavit of support if applicable, and online payment of the SEVIS fee and an OGS processing fee).
- First Year Away (FYA) Students. Students who started Liberal Studies at an international site, and took leave during their freshmen year, must return to that international site upon resuming their studies. If there are special circumstances that require you instead return to New York, you must petition and provide supporting documentation for consideration of this request.
- Disability Services. You must also notify the Moses Center for Students with Disabilities regarding your return, if you were registered with the center prior to taking the health leave of absence.

If you fail to register for classes after three consecutive semesters, or have withdrawn from the institution, you must apply for readmission to the program under the Application Center in Albert

To make arrangements for your return and registration, contact
Leah Guarino-Ramirez, Assistant Director of Students, by phone (212.998.7938) or email (leah.ramirez@nyu.edu)

NYU will maintain the confidential information regarding leaves in accordance with federal, state and local laws, and to the greatest extent consistent with the goal of processing such leaves.
